

Announcing
John Hartnett
Recovery Service Navigator

We are pleased to welcome John Hartnett as our Recovery Services Navigator with Meadville Medical Center and the Community Care Network. John is a life-long resident of Meadville, attending Meadville Area Senior High School and Allegheny College. He graduated from Allegheny with a Bachelor of Arts, majoring in political science and minoring in religious studies.

He became involved in local recovery efforts in 2015, following the deaths of several close friends to opioid overdose. He joined the board of Not One More Northwest PA in 2016, and helped them to develop their technological infrastructure and expand their presence in the community. They focus on supporting the addict and their families, connecting them with support groups, treatment options, and life-saving naloxone. In January of this year, he was named President of Not One More, so they can continue to grow their addiction advocacy and support efforts.

He is looking forward to continue moving the conversation on the opioid epidemic with our Let's Talk... campaign and reaching out to those struggling with addiction.
